

Experience

I have significant experience in the area of adult learning and team dynamics, in particular working with teams in an action learning environment.

For the past five years I have worked with the Graphic Arts Merchants Association of Australia, designing and leading their scholarship and Education Programme.

Prior to this I spent 6 years at the University of Melbourne's Business School designing and managing executive education programmes for a variety of corporate clients, law firms, government agencies and NGO's.

More recently, I have been an Associate with Somersault Consulting.

My career began in the area of music and moved into education with a strong interest in adult learning, team and team dynamics.

I am accredited in TMS, (Team Management Systems), Australia and I bring a creative and intuitive approach to much of my work.

Typical Recent Assignments

- Designing and consulting on leadership development programs
- Action learning facilitation
- Team profiling and understanding team dynamics towards building high performing teams
- Creating and designing programs around individual needs with a creative twist, by utilising my arts background and identifying links between performance and presentation in the workplace
- Individual coaching, particularly around the need for confidence building and settling targets for change.

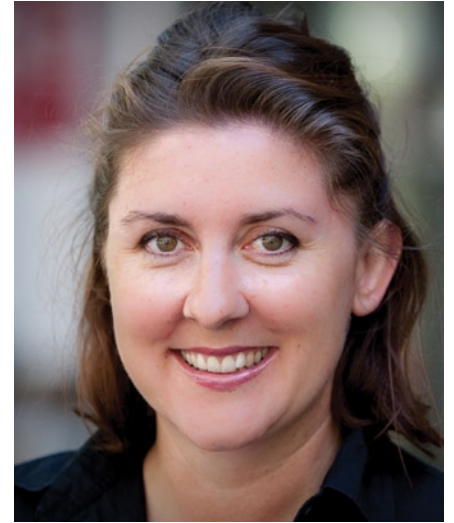

I'm known for:

In all my work I adopt an action learning approach allowing people the space and support to practise and question their leadership style, and then to reflect and learn from that.

I am consultative and honest.

I believe groups are an exciting place to learn and encourage people to be courageous.

I am known for my honest questioning and I enable people to make links and connections for themselves.

"I do hear things a little differently to others and therefore question people in a different way.

I bring a creative and intuitive approach to much of my work."
